Foreword

In this, the '56 EL DORADO, we the staff have attempted to portray a picture of our life at Dana. There have been moments of heartache, work, and sadness, but also moments of gaiety and achievement. We sincerely hope the Class of 1956 will be remembered by all.

We wish to express our gratitude to those who have made it possible for this edition of our yearbook to be published, the merchants for buying subscriptions for advertisement, the teachers for giving us class time to work, and all who have been so cooperative with us.

"We'll Have These Moments to Remember."

THE STAFF

To you, Mr. Davis, we wish to dedicate half of this our "El Dorado" because of our deepest appreciation to you for making school life much gayer. We will never forget the trips you have made possible for us.

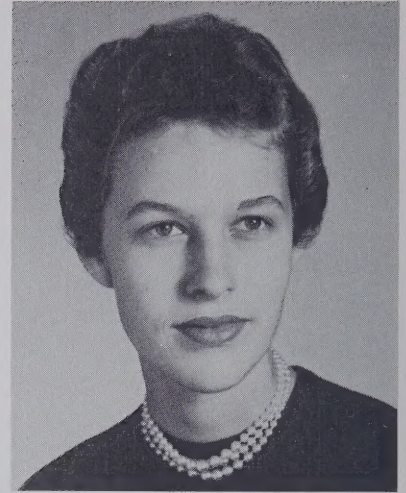

To you, Mrs. Atkins, we wish to dedicate the other half of our "El Dorado" because you have been so good to let us out of class to work on the annual. We are also grateful for your support at the ball games and help with other problems.

"The Class of Nineteen-Fifty-Six"

In the year of nineteen-forty-four,
As we first came through Dana's door,
Miss Plank met us with a smile,
And started us down that twelve year aisle.

Then came nineteen-hundred and forty-five,
Forty children full of meanness yet glad to be alive,
Miss Case, we must have driven you wild,
But you remained so sweet and mild.

Another year gone, then nineteen-forty-six.
At this age we were so full of tricks,
I wonder if Mrs. Morgan remembers the chair with the tack,
For which she gave several of us a whack.

In the year of nineteen-forty-seven,
We thought Miss Mitchell's room to be heaven,
The days in her class, we wished we could prolong.
With her wonderful way of teaching she guided us along.

Then the year of nineteen-hundred and forty-eight.
Mrs. Pace, we will always remember this date.
This was our first year upstairs,
Numerous became our lessons and our cares.

Then the year of nineteen-hundred and forty-nine.
Mrs. Morrow began new lessons to assign.
History, spelling, health, arithmetic,
Why did they make the books so thick?

Then came the year of nineteen-hundred and fifty.
In Miss Ward's room we were destined to be.
We remember all the spelling words we matched;
Also Lindy's visits. To our hearts she became attached.

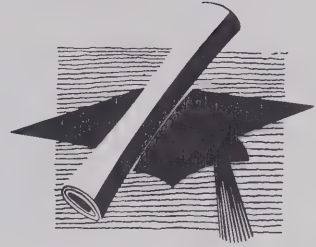

Then came nineteen-hundred and fifty-one.
Our grammar grade years were almost done.
Thank you, Mrs. Fanselow, for preparing us for high school.
We've gratefully used your rules as a guide and a tool.

The year raced by, then nineteen-fifty-two;
And we entered high school with much ado.
So many new teachers, one for each class,
We worked so hard and hoped we would pass.

Next came nineteen-hundred and fifty-three.
We had English, algebra, home ec., and biology.
English and literature to us Mrs. Allison explained,
And through her much knowledge has been gained.

Then came nineteen-hundred and fifty-four.
Mr. Jervis helped us mathematics to explore.
We did so enjoy geometry.
Its use to us we can already see.

All too soon it was nineteen-fifty-five.
At the end of our school days we are about to arrive.
Now our class of twenty-four, we are faced to go our separate ways.
With gratitude we shall always cherish our school days.

Class History

Let us put the record on and play the past. The record starts to spin, and our history begins to unfold before our memories. It was the year 1944; we were just beginning school. Our first teachers were Miss Plank and Mrs. Green. They helped us make it through that first year. The next year we progressed to Miss Case's room; then to Mrs. Morgan's third grade. In the fourth grade we were separated and part of us went into Miss Mitchell's room and part into Miss Leslie's room.

Now we change the record, for in the fifth grade we moved upstairs. At first we were bewildered by the change in scenery, but we soon adjusted to it. In that grade we helped Mrs. Pace sell school supplies. Moving to the sixth grade was fun, and marked the half-way place of our way to the top. Two new notes were added to our song in that year, Marie Hazeltine and Ann Bennett. We gained another five notes in the next year. They were Loretta Garrett, Leon Lamb, Forrest Lyda, William Morrow, and Marilyn Davis. By the time we reached the eighth grade, we were preparing for high school.

Then came the big moment, we became freshmen in high school. We were thrilled by the new experience. Teachers that had been just names to us became persons. They guided us through the first hard year. Because we were the smallest class in high school at that time, we were put in two groups; the girls went to Mrs. Crawford, and the boys, to Mr. Davis. Through the freshman year, the teachers helped us learn to be ladies and gentlemen. (We certainly were a rowdy group.)

Then we found ourselves as Sophomores. By this time we had really become a part of high school. Some of us were cheerleaders; some, basketball players, and some had the privilege of becoming Beta Club members.

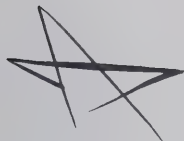

The needle is now nearing the end of the record. There are only two years left. When we reached the eleventh grade, we were finding responsibilities that we never knew existed before. This was the year we planned the Junior-Senior Banquet. The whole school buzzed with whispers and secrets; however, we made it to the day of the announcements without "spilling the beans." Finally the Class of 1955 graduated and we became the seniors. We enjoyed preparing material for the annual and doing the things that only a senior can do.

After we graduate this year of 1956, many of us will enter college next fall; others will settle down to rear a family. Whatever our futures may be, even though the record may get old and the needle rusty, we can ask God's blessing upon us through the future years.

Class Prophecy

We're not fortune-tellers, soothsayers, or anything like that, but we have read the "handwriting on the wall," and we know what the future of the Seniors of '56 is seven years from now.

Ted Johnson is married and lives at Brevard where he works as a night watchman at Ecusta. He gets nine hours sleep a day.

Judy Justus lives in Hendersonville where she runs a dress and tailor shop combined. She is the best dressed lady in town.

Loretta Garrett works for Dr. Romeo. She is his best nurse, and she also takes care of emergency cases at Pardee Hospital three nights a week.

Leon Lamb now owns Joe Chitwood's outfit. It's a better show than ever. Leon has a summer home in Hendersonville where he owns a mechanic shop for his cars. J.R. Owenby is Leon's mechanic. By the way, J.R. has built a car out of parts from old cars that will do 150 miles a hour. (It doesn't have wings.)

Glenda Livingstone works for the F.B.I. She helped catch Chicago's number one criminal. The way she's going she'll replace J. Edgar Hoover.

Frank King is in the Air Force. You better watch out if you hear a low whistling sound. It might be Frank piloting a jet.

Betty Harris is married and lives at Dana. She sure keeps herself busy teaching the second grade and caring for her five children.

W.L. Jones is in the Navy. He is a tackle for Navy's football team. It's no wonder that they swamped Army this past season.

Ann Bennett does TV commercials for Pepsi-Cola. She has taken Polly Burgen's place. No wonder Pepsi is the number one drink. Ann has been working as a model.

Mary Cagle is married, has four children, and runs the new cafeteria in Hendersonville. Her cafeteria is as modern as any of the S.&W.'s.

J.W. McDowell owns a new drive-in theater. It's one of the finest in the south.

Yvonne King is really rolling in the dough that she makes working at the G.E. plant. She is the best secretary they have. The hours she spent in Mr. Jervis' office helped out.

Nellie Frisbee is married and lives in the Dana community. She is a fine homemaker. Claude couldn't have picked a better wife.

Ellison Justice owns a 150 acre farm in the Mills River community. He grows beef cattle for the Swifts Premium meat company.

Anita McMurray owns a new drive-in restaurant in Hendersonville. She serves the best hot-dogs!

Donald King owns the largest plumbing shop in town. He has organized a ball team, "Southern Yankees." Beverly Ann Brown has taken Mrs. Allison's place since she retired. Everyone misses Mrs. Allison, but Beverly is a good replacement. Andrew Justice owns a large cigarette factory in Winston-Salem, but he still likes to roll his own with "Country Gentleman." Marie Hazeltine is married to a Baptist minister and lives in Virginia where she teaches music to many students. Ruth Hill is married, lives in California, and gets a new Mercury every year. She is a studio photographer and she takes pictures of movie stars. William Morrow is now on TV. He has a comedy show and the best part of the show is his imitations of different singers. You should hear his imitation of Nat King Cole. I, Dean Williams, see myself as a bachelor. I am a forest ranger in Pisgah Forest. When I go after anyone that has violated the wildlife laws, I always get my man. I, Oren Frazier, see myself as an undertaker. I embalm, stuff, or cremate. Are you ready to meet your maker?

Last Will and Testament

On this first day of March in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-six, we, the Class of 1956, being of sound minds and bodies, do declare our last will and testament.

We leave to our beloved principal, our undying love and respect for his many hours of patient guidance through our high school years.

We wish to express our gratitude to the faculty for dragging us through English, pulling us through Chemistry, guiding us through Mathematics, shoving us through Agriculture, keeping us awake in Home Economics and in Business Education.

We leave to the Juniors the honor of becoming Seniors and the many privileges and good times we've had.

We leave to the Sophomores the job of planning the Junior-Senior Banquet. We hope they have as much fun as we did at the S. & W. Cafeteria.

We leave to the Freshmen all our books and notes; especially our Chemistry books and English notes.

I, W. L. Jones, bequeath my courteous manners to Paul Jackson.

I, Marie Hazeltine, bequeath my privilege to be late every morning to Peggy Jamerson.

I, Frank King, bequeath my job of bringing a load of girls to school every morning to Alfred Wiik. Come straight to school, Alfred!

I, Anita McMurray, bequeath my cheerleading skirt and sweater to Marie Walker and Kathryn Kishpaugh.

I, J. R. Ownbey, bequeath my wavy hair to Herbert Frazier.

I, Glenda Livingstone, bequeath my ability to read shorthand to Martha Bittillo. Make sure you can read it too!

I, Judy Justus, bequeath my spelling medal to Doris Edney and Eleanor Nanney.

I, Ted Johnson, bequeath my privilege to sleep through every class to Tommy Gordon.

I, Nellie Frisbee, bequeath my ability to drive to Hazel Gibbs. Don't hit the porches, Hazel.

I, Andrew Justice, bequeath my sportsmanship to W. S. Bradley.

I, Ellison Justice, bequeath my left-hand penmanship to Genelle Gilbert.

I, Ann Bennett, bequeath my German cold to Beverly Brown and my driver's licenses to Lois Williams.

I, Oren Frazier, bequeath my quietness to Cortez McCraw.

I, Donald King, bequeath my freckles to Lois Bishop and my position as pitcher on the baseball team to Billy Brown.

I, Beverly Brown, bequeath my job as Editor of the annual to Linda Hammett.

I, Yvonne King, bequeath my ability to charm the teachers to Betty Ray and my good citizenship to Christine Ward.

I, Loretta Garrett, bequeath my short haircut to Betty Garrett. (Just to keep it in the family.) Try it some time Betty, Jack might like it.

I, William Morrow, bequeath my popularity to Paul Williams.

I, J. W. McDowell, bequeath my shyness to Bobby Williams.

I, Dean Williams, bequeath my dry wit to Monroe Wagner and my height and ability to make A's in English to Charlie Lytle.

I, Mary Cagle, bequeath my ability to say much in a few words to Barbara Lytle and Doris Pace.

I, Leon Lamb, bequeath my privilege to get out of typing to Gene Gilliam.

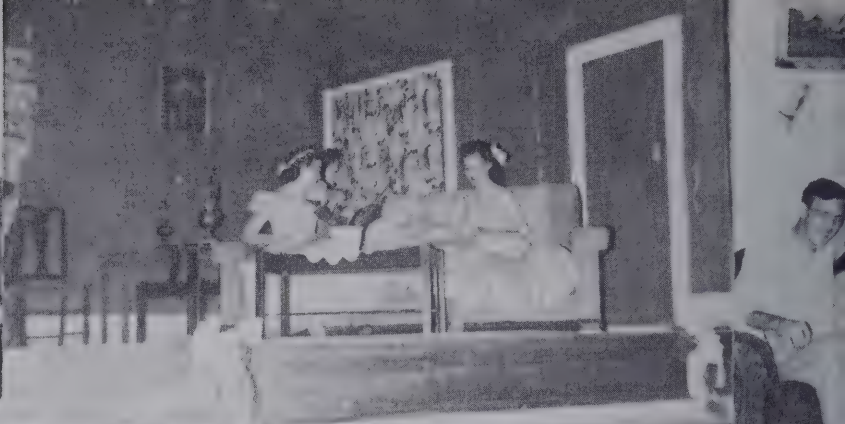

I, Betty Harris, leave my ability to work crossword puzzles in class to Carolyn Pettet.

I, Ruth Hill, leave my beauty to Jewelle Capps and my basketball suit to Jean Jackson.

Our school career fades away . . . . graduation over . . . . a new life . . . . college, work, marriage . . . . cherished old friendships
. . . . plans made and broken . . . . Into the future . . . . a world to be conquered . . . . for some, fame - fortune, others disappointment . . . . all striving for success . . . . remembering the class motto . . . . "One Step at a Time, But Always, Forward."

And So Goodbye
Class of 1956
